the annual holders were eight in number.

Till now Pompey had been dominant in the East and Crassus in Rome.

62 BC

Caesar was praetor on the 1st day of the New Year he delivered a virulent attack on Cato; the elder statesman was charged that the restoration of the Temple of Jupiter on the Capitoline Hill, had been entrusted to Cato 16 yrs ago & still remained incomplete. He suggested Pompey (soon to return) should be given the task, not Catulus, Cato (now tribune) nearly lost his life by opposing the measure, in one of worst riots at Rome

The Goddess (Bona Dea) was worshipped exclusively by women. Her rites were to be celebrated in the home of Caesar, praetor & Chief Priest. Wine was drunk but no man must be present.

Rome was horrified to learn that a male had managed to gate - crashed the ceremony disguised in a woman's clothes. A slave-girl had penetrated the deception.

& at once reported to Caesar's mother AURELIA, who before throwing the intruder out identified him as PUBLIUS CLODIUS PULCRER.
It was at once stated and assumed that his purpose was to make love to Caesar's wife Pompeia. Caesar promptly divorced her.

An elaborate case of sacrilege was prepared against him. ^(Clodius) Cicero demolished his alibi for the night. Caesar refused to offer any testimony against Clodius. The result of the trial was acquittal for Clodius.

End 62 BC

Pompey landed in Brundisium, bringing nearly 40,000 devoted soldiers. He had put an end to MITHRIDATES, and had annexed his huge kingdom in northern Anatolia. He had also taken over Syria and he had captured Jerusalem. He conquered 1,538 towns 12,178,000 human beings. 39 new cities owed their foundation to him

Pompey's triumph commemorating victories over 15 nations and parading 384 captured & hostage princes & their sons, presented an imposing magnificence beyond the dreams of all previous commanders. Pompey paid 24 million (English pounds) into the treasury. His conquests raised the annual revenue of Rome by 70%, from 10 to 17 million. Mortgage bonds made him the owner of the East. Caesar took the initiative in proposing the honors which Rome showered upon Pompey.

Catiline was defeated & slain at PISTORIA.

62 BC ; 61 B.C.

Cicero was the leading man in Rome; but the alliance of Pompey and Caesar in the first triumvirate (w/ Crassus) deposed him from that position. His opposition to the triumvirs caused him to permit CLODIUS to attack him by bringing forward a bill to banish any person who had put Roman citizens to death untried. This Cicero had done in executing the accomplices of Catiline

62 BC
